CAI Awards Grant to New Educational Partner, The Nativity School, Harrisburg

Allentown, PA – December 20, 2018: Computer Aid, Inc. (CAI) is pleased to announce the awarding of a grant for The Nativity School in Harrisburg, PA, in the amount of $14,245 through CAI's community service initiative, CAI Cares – Education4Kids. At CAI, we see it as a key component of our business mission to use our financial and human resources to positively impact communities, and more specifically, under-served children. Through our Education4Kids program funding grants and partnership with The Nativity School, CAI is doing its part to ensure that all children receive a quality education.

The program funds for this award is for Instructional Technology and will cover the annual subscription fees for the Imagination Station Reading and Dreambox Math programs during the 2018/2019 school year, as well as iPad resources and associated accessories. The Nativity School is a privately run, non-denominational, faith-based preparatory middle school aiming to break the cycle of poverty for low-income, inner-city boys. It provides a comprehensive middle school education and continuing support throughout high school and college. CAI looks forward to establishing a strong partnership with The Nativity School and is thankful for their longstanding commitment to children in Harrisburg.
